WHOOPING COUGH HEALTH ALERT

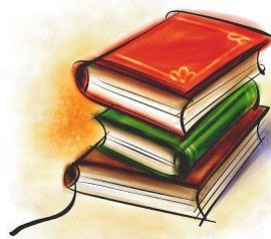

From the San Diego Union Tribune: " A whooping cough epidemic sweeping California has killed five infants this year, and health officials are urging the public to make sure all family members and care-givers are up-to-date on their vaccinations."

Many of you are receiving notices that your child's immunizations are not up-to-date. While we are hoping that your children have actually had all their shots and that we are just missing their records, we ask you to please make sure they do have all the necessary shots before they return to school in September. You may want to consider a booster shot, even if your child's vaccinations are up-to-date. The specific vaccination for whooping cough is called DTP or DTaP, and the booster shot is called Tdap.

For more information, please check out the San Diego County Department of Health at www.sdiz.org. To read the Union Tribune article in full, please go to www.signonsandiego.com/news/2010/jul09/whooping-cough-on-the-rise.
